

The FCC's duty is to insure that the public airwaves are used for the public good. Insuring the public good means insuring that all voices are heard. Allowing media outlets to consolidate further would mean that less voices would be heard and would therefore be against the public good. Please retain the current limits on media ownership.